Here’s an entry for 9 great space books for preschoolers!

BABY LOVES AEROSPACE ENGINEERING
ILLUSTRATED BY IRENE CHAN

The Baby Loves board book series are my favorite science board books. I love how simply Spiro explains complex concepts—even I can understand them! She doesn’t include so much that my daughter’s attention wonders, but there’s enough to define the basics. And the art is sweet and engaging. In Baby Loves Aerospace Engineering, a bird’s wings are compared to a plane’s, and then the bird gets to launch into space! My daughter loves this one.

BLAST OFF! (FLUORESCENT POP!) BY HUNTER REID,
ILLUSTRATED BY STEPHANIE HINTON

The shortest of the books on this list, toddlers love these fluorescent illustrations. It’s perfect for babies starting to flip through pages. It may be the least informative of the bunch, but it’s the brightest, and babies love bright.

ASTRONAUTS (FIRST EXPLORERS) BY CHRISTIANE ENGEL

Authors have a short bio and links to other entries they’ve written for the site...
